Elimination of Mother to Child Transmission Best Practices Handbook

Resource type:

Best Practices Handbooks

Publication date:

October 2017

Sequence number:

9

The purpose of the best practices handbook series is to document USAID/SUSTAIN's exceptional experiences in elimination of mother to child transmission service delivery over the last seven years, and to facilitate learning about what actions do and do not work by sharing those experiences with other implementers so that they might be able to replicate these best practices.
